British Draft Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, and Stockpiling of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction, August 6, 1976

The States Parties to this Convention

Agreeing that the existence of chemical weapons represents a threat to mankind, and that chemical discoveries should be used only for the benefit of humanity,

Concerned that advances in science and technology may lead to the development of new generations of chemical weapons,

Convinced that the prohibition of the development, production and stockpiling of chemical weapons and their elimination, through effective measures, is a necessary step towards the achievement of general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control,

Recognizing the important significance of the Geneva Protocol of 17 June 1925 for the Prohibition of the Use in War of Asphyxiating, Poisonous or Other Gases, and of Bacteriological Methods of Warfare, and conscious of the contribution which the said Protocol has already made, and continues to make, to mitigating the horrors of war,

Reaffirming their adherence to the principles and objectives of that Protocol and calling upon all States to comply strictly with them,

Recalling that each State Party to the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production and Stockpiling of Bacteriological (Biological) and Toxin Weapons and on Their Destruction, in Article IX of that Convention, affirmed the recognized objectives of effective prohibition of chemical weapons and, to this end, undertook to continue negotiations in good faith with a view to reaching early agreement on effective measures for the prohibition of their development, production and stockpiling and for their destruction, and on appropriate measures concerning equipment and means of delivery specifically designed for the production or use of chemical weapon agents.
